Angora Campfire

Did you ever watch the camp fire
When the wood has fallen low
And the ashes 'gin to whiten
Round the embers' crimson glow—

With the night sounds all about you
Making silence doubly sweet
And a full moon high above you
That the spell may be complete

Did you ever sit there thinking
Mid the forests balmy breath
While the fire's last, feeble flicker
Met a magic, glow-worm death—

Tell me, were you ever nearer
To the land of heart's desire
Than when you sat there dreaming
Beside our own camp fire?

RULES OF THE CHIEF GUIDE AS RE- QUIRED BY THE BY-LAWS OF THE CLUB

ALWAYS REMEMBER THE GOLDEN RULE

The Angora club is organized for the purpose of fostering nature study, observing the scenic beauties of nature, with which we are so richly bestowed, and training its members to be real hikers, woodsmen, and mountaineers. The Angora club was founded on principals that have withstood the test of centuries, and we seek to instill into the hearts of its members the friendship, such as bound Damon and Pythias. All scheduled hikes are conducted by the chief guide or some one appointed by him, who maintain discipline at all times and all members and guests who fail to obey, all reasonable orders will be barred from any further journeys.

SCHEDULE OF HIKEs FOR THE SUMMER

Angora headquarters for starting on trips are at Otto Niemi's, Tailor, 8th and Commercial Street.

MARCH 4

PUGET ISLAND — Leave on the morning train for Clifton and transfer to a launch which will take us to the island. Hike around island on the dike and stop for lunch at the ranch of our Vice-President Charles Johnson. Fine views along the way and good hiking. Return by evening train.

MARCH 18

SCARBOUR HEAD — Leave on the first ferry from Fourteenth Street dock and go to McGowan, Wash. Hike through Fort Columbia and on up to the summit. New and beautiful views of the lower Columbia can be seen. Returning hike to Chinook and back to the ferry.

APRIL 8

TILLAMOOK HEAD — Leave headquarters at 6:00 A. M. and go by auto to the head where a delegation from Seaside will join us for the purpose of cutting a trail from Seaside to Bald Hill. Bring axes and saws. Every member should be present and work for this trail will open up one of the most scenic spots of the county.

WESTPORT-NEHALEM ROAD —

Leave on the morning train and go to Westport. Hike along the old road to a lake and return to Westport by a different route. This is a new trip in a section noted for its beautiful scenery. See Nicoli Mountain in the distance. Return by late train.

APRIL 29

VINE MAPLE—Leave headquarters at 6:30 P. M. Saturday and go by auto to the beautiful Nehalem Valley. Dan Rier-son will be our host on this trip and good quarters for the night provided in the hay mows. Hike to Alder Creek by trail and see fine view of Mt. Hood. A fine time is assured. Return late Sunday evening.

MAY 13

UPPER NORTH FORK NEHALEM—

Leave headquarters at 6:30 P. M. Saturday and go by auto to near Hamlet and camp out or look for hay mows. Morning hike over the hills to the river and on up towards Humbug Mountain. Spring flowers will be in bloom and good fishing along the river. Remember last year's trip and this is in the same territory. Return Sunday evening.

MAY 20

INDIAN BEACH — Leave headquarters at 6:30 P. M. Saturday and go by auto to Chapman Point and camp out. Morning hike to Indian beach and have lunch. Hike to Bald Hill and down to the traps. This is a good trip for new hikers and good pictures can be obtained. Mussei Feed furnished. Return Sunday evening.

MAY 27

GNAT CREEK FALLS—Leave headquarters at 5:30 A. M. and go by auto to near Blind Slough. Hike along the old bull trail through a fairy land and over the hills to the beautiful but seldom visited falls. Trip put on again his year by request so all come prepared to hike.

JUNE 3

SOAPSTONE LAKE — Leave headquarters at 6:30 P. M. Saturday and go by auto to near Soapstone Creek and camp out. Morning hike to this unknown lake and to the big falls of the North Fork. Hike down the river to Buchanan's where auto will be. Very picturesque and beautiful scenery. See the big falls and God's Valley Creek. Return Sunday evening.

JUNE 10

SADDLE MOUNTAIN ANNUAL SUMMER CLIMB — Leave headquarters at 6 A. M. and go by auto to the L. & C. R. R. and by train to the upper camp. Hike to the summit by old trail and return by new trail make a side trip to centre peak. The flowers are at their best this time of the year. Nuf sed. Return in the evening.

JUNE 17

SUGAR LOAF MOUNTAIN—Make arrangements so you can go on this trip. Leave head quarters at 2 P. M. Saturday and go by auto to near Black Bridge where a camp site will be provided. The Trails club of Portland will be our guests on this trip. Morning hike to the summit of the mountain where a fine view is to be seen. Return Sunday evening. Members only on this trip.

JULY 1-2-3-4.

MOUNT ADAMS—Leave for Portland on the 5 P. M. train Saturday and register at a hotel to be selected. Sunday at 8 A. ## ANNUAL MESSAGE OF THE PRESIDENT

There is an old saying that you can not keep a squirrel on the ground, and it is equally true that you can not keep a real live Angora from climbing mountains. The year that has just passed has been one of achievement by the many Angoras who gained both health, strength and enjoyment from the many pleasant hikes and mountain climbing excursions taken.

The new schedule prepared by the Chief Guide has many pleasant hikes in store for us, including the climb to the summit of Mt. Adams. Let us all make an endeavor to take each one of the scheduled trips, so that the Angora club may keep up its good name and may develop the spirit of harmony and good cheer which goes hand in hand with the true lover of nature.

CHIEF GUIDES MESSAGE

As the evening shadows fall, the Angoras shoulder their packs, and hike into the enchanted forest. When the purple after-glow, has emerged into darkness, and the hoot of the owl is heard, then the head camp-fire is lit, and all gather around it to recount the adventures of many previous journeys, and to form new friendships. The fire, now a bright red bed of coals, finds the Angoras snugly tucked into their sleeping bags, dreaming of the wonderful day to come, and of the joy it will bring. Out of the darkness the gentle voice of the guide is heard calling "three o'clock." There is a stir of the sleeping form and all cry out in a chorus "three o'clock, good night" and turn over to resume their slumbers. Undismayed, the guide answered back in a voice that makes the whole woodland ring, "three o'clock, good morning, roll out, coffee is ready," and thus starts the day.

Soon the aroma of coffee and fried bacon fill the atmosphere, and the party soon line up for the word "lets go." The trail leads through a mountain meadow sweet with the scent of wild flowers. We see the bees, busy as ever, loaded down with honey, and the swallow, winging for its breakfast. We see the tender green shoots that will emerge into pink and white lillies and the tiny white flowers like snow flakes that will soon be luscious huckle berries. We see the trout, far down in the crystal pool, watching for flies to come their way, likewise the goshawk circling high in the heavens. We see the white clouds, reflected on the surface of a mirrored mountain lake, and the majestic rainbow as an archway, over the valley, to remind us of God's covenant. These we see and many, many more things, as we climb, up, ever upward to the summit of the mountain. We see the avalanche come tearing down the snow field, bringing tons of debris, and the glacier slowly grinding downward, then we remember the prophecy "The earth and sky shall pass away, but my spirit shall not pass away." On reaching the summit, the cloud which has enveloped us and which has made it appear, as if a halo were around every one, soon drifts away, and we behold the eastern sky painted in a hundred colors. Yet there are only seven, and all the rest are a combination of the seven seen in the spectrum. An hour we sit there and watch no one feels the chill morning air, likewise no words are spoken, for we are in the midst of a great sermon, and who could compete with the creator.

And what, my friends, are a few weary limbs and aching muscles to those who have found real happiness.

Sincerely,

John E. Berry.

My native country thee,
Land of the noble free,
Thy name I love;
I love thy rock and rills,
Thy woods and templed hills,
My heart with rapture thrills
Like that above.

Let music swell the breeze,
And ring from all the trees
Sweet freedom's song;
Let mortal tongues awake,
Let all that breathe partake,
Let rocks their silence break
The sound prolong.

CAMP RULES

Realizing the good purpose and the high ideals of the Angora club members and guests must not by any act of theirs bring discredit to this club.

It is the aim of this club to teach its members to fully enjoy the great outdoors so that they will become workers in the conservation of our forests and all natural resources; therefore it is necessary that each one obey the simple rules.

Extreme care must be taken not to start forest fires.

Contamination of all water sources must be avoided.

Camps must be left in good order and refuse buried.

In order that all trips of this club may be conducted intelligently and at a minimum of expense, each one must sign up for the trips on Friday night before the trip at the Angora lodge or have some member sign up for you. The by-laws require that each one is subjected to pay their share of the expense if they do not make the trip, and for failure to do so in 60 days they will forfeit their membership. All members should discourage outlaw trips on our hiking dates, and give all the assistance they can to make the meetings and hikes a success.

Equipment should be the best that you can afford and special care taken of footwear. Always wear wool stockings and shoes or boots with hob nails.

Camp motto: "Don't deteriorate, keep on hiking."

The Angora club holds a meeting every Friday evening at the Angora lodge in the city park to which friends and visiting hikers are invited. The first Friday of each month is the regular business meeting of the club and is for members only. The election of officers is on the first meeting in December and the installation the first meeting in January. Those who believe in the principals of the club and who enjoy and are willing to hike and become workers, should apply to the secretary for instruction so that they too may wear the GOLDEN FLEECE of the Angora.
